

Fronto = Marcus
Love and Simile in Fronto's Letters

Yasuko Taoka

Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures

Wednesday, December 3, at 3 pm, in Faner 2083

Fronto loves rhetoric.
Marcus loves philosophy.
Fronto loves Marcus.
Marcus loves Fronto.

*Find out what happens a man's love of simile collides
with his love for the emperor of Rome.*

*At left, Marcus, via a wood engraving
by Simon Brett*

Marcus is Marcus Aurelius, emperor from 161-180, also famous for his Meditations, a masterpiece of stoic philosophy.

Fronto is Marcus' tutor.

The letters are those he exchanged with Marcus.